

David King-1/4/2019

I grew up online, like many other kids of the 21st century. I guess I've learned a lot off of the internet. I honestly don't know what to write about. I'm just not an interesting person. I'll probably get a bad grade, but there's really nothing I can write about.